

ABSTRACT

Wheelbarrows and similar type carts are notoriously bulky, unwieldy devices. Methods are provided to fold and stow all components of such devices into an ultra thin, compact profile. One or more wheel support units pivot and latch into the thin stowed profile along with the underside support and handle components. Convenient stowing and nesting of such devices for display or transport is also provided.